NC DIDI ANNOUNCES SOUTHEAST REGIONAL TOWN HALL IN FAYETTEVILLE FOR DEFENSE INDUSTRY SUPPLIERS AND CONTRACTORS

Raleigh, NC November 20th, 2017 – The North Carolina Defense Industry Diversification Initiative (NC DIDI) will host a town hall entitled the “NC DIDI Southeast Defense Contractors and Suppliers Town Hall” on December 5th, 2017 to discuss solutions to the challenges being faced by businesses who contract or subcontract with the Department of Defense in the state of North Carolina.

The town hall is a part of a 5-part series of town halls aimed at gathering the businesses and DoD suppliers to learn more about your experiences as a supplier to the DoD and US military. This is an opportunity to educate your state and local stakeholders about what elements of this relationship are positive and about the various challenges that suppliers face.

“The voice of North Carolina’s manufacturing and service providing contractors are the most important piece of this initiative. The opportunity to capture their thoughts on how this process could be streamlined is vital to fortifying the Department of Defense contracting supply chain in this state,” said Secretary Larry Hall, of the North Carolina Department of Military and Veterans Affairs and Co-Chairman of NC DIDI.

“These town halls coupled with our ongoing pilot projects and supply chain study will give defense companies the opportunity to grow and diversify into alternative markets.”

The event will take place at Fayetteville Technical Community College (FTCC). FTCC is located at 2201 Hull Road in Fayetteville, NC. The event will take place in the Neill Currie Building (Building 6) in room i3D. The event will begin at 12:00pm and conclude at 2:00pm. Parking is available in lots #22 and 21. The town hall and panel will be moderated by the host.

“As we look to insulate defense contractors from potential budget cuts, we ensure that these companies remain viable. This forum will capture the experience of being in the DoD supply chain and why it is important to better understanding how to both grow and protect these businesses in our various regions,” said Scott Dorney, Director of the North Carolina Military Business Center.

The forum will also include an informative panel from some of the Triangle Regions leading DoD contracting companies, economic development officers and procurement experts. Lunch will be served. While the event is free, registration is highly recommended. Those wishing to participate in the forum can register at our website, www.ncdidi.com or at EventBrite.

The presence of the media is requested.
